THE REALIZATION OF AN IDEAL

THE CHEVROLET

Christian-Todd Service Co.

308 S. Main St. Telephone 100.
HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

A vision realized is a vision come to life. But to realize a vision in the fullest sense, it is necessary that it be based on common good. For it is only by serving a common good that true greatness is achieved. The creation of the Chevrolet was based on that ideal of common good. And the success of the Chevrolet is proof that the vision was fundamentally sound.

It is in serving vast numbers that we realize the necessity of serving well. For we know that if a product is to be great and receive the respect and attention of the world, the spirit of greatness must be back of it. And the spirit of service must prevail always. It is necessary to give satisfaction in the manufactured article, for growth is based on good-will. And good-will is on the priceless possessions of modern commerce.

Steel, iron, leather and other material entering into the construction of an automobile, are dumb things. It is necessary for men to fashion these things in the right spirit to make them of any value. When touched and moulded by men the essence of life is infused. It is the method of building—it is the interpretation of these ideals—that count for the most. Chevrolet success is but the reflection of ideals that live up to high standards.

"Four-Ninety" model is not built to meet a price. The care exercised in the selection of the material proves this statement conclusively. Genuine quality of construction has been maintained at all times. The overhead valve motor, with detachable cylinder head, is cast en-bloc (including the upper half of the crank case) and made of a special grade of iron, properly seasoned. The wearing parts are built of carefully selected material, thoroughly tempered and reheated time and time again, as each case requires, to meet the demand of utmost strength.
